

GPM Course Certified Project Management Associate (IPMA® Level D)

Description LG 27-3002E

Target group
Work package managers and employees working in projects, who want to enrich their project experience with profound project management knowledge.

Goal & benefits
You acquire current and practice-oriented knowledge in all areas of project management. By getting trained on the practical use of methods and tools, you will be able to support your project manager as a competent team member.

Course concept
Within 7 days of full-day Live-Online-Training in a virtual classroom you acquire the necessary tools to be a competent team member in any project team being able to support the project manager to handle projects by applying certain methods.

On the course days you will be learning by means of trainer presentations, by means of tasks you work on individually or in small virtual groups, in discussions and by means of feedback from other participants.

Between the course days there are self-study phases in which you will prepare yourself for the written exam and your feedback discussion by specifically working through the course documents and by preparing the level D report. Supporting exercise materials, photo documentation, a quality check of your report and the use of our learning platform (including an app for mobil devices) are available to you for this purpose.

After you have passed the voluntary certificate exam, you will receive your globally recognised certificate Certified Project Management Associate (IPMA® Level D).

Admission requirements for the IPMA® Level D certification process
Proof of own project management experience is not required.
